YOUTHS HELD ON ROBBERY CHARGE

Two Bound Over to Grand Jury Following Pleas of Guilty

Paul Lehmer and Roy Bruce pleaded guilty to a charge of burglary and larceny before Judge William H. Martin in municipal court Saturday afternoon and were bound over to the grand jury. In default of $1,000 bond the two youths were committed to the county jail.

The two were arrested last week in connection with the robbery of the Smith poolroom, Oakland Heights, on the night of Jan. 2.

Another youth, Thomas Piazza, was turned over to juvenile court authorities. All three signed confessions admitting the robbery, according to police officials.

To Clean Up Business.

Mr. Hoover is intent, however, upon cleaning up as much business as possible before going south. He wants at least a month of comparative quiet before March 4, a month of rest and relaxation in which to weigh and consider the innumerable recommendations that have been put up to him here both as to personnel and policy.

Therefore, he figures that the more people he sees in Washington the fewer he will have to see at Miami Beach.

His stay in Washington has been so prolonged that it is now probable there will be any Caribbean tour, as originally planned, before March 4. A week-end trip to Havana probably will be the only break in the president-elect's Florida stay.

The Cuban government has been given to understand that only unforeseen developments will prevent this visit.

mon pleas court. Since Smith's absence the office has been under the direction of Deputy Bell.

Besides the appointment of Mr. McKee, the only change in the force of the office will be the release of Miss Virginia Wilson, who was added to the force as clerk and stenographer after Smith disappeared.

Next Election Two

At the general election in November, 1929, the county will face the necessity of electing two recorders.

Mr. McKee's term will expire when her successor is duly elected and qualified. Her successor will be elected November, 1930, and will serve until the next Monday in January, 1931, when Smith's term would have expired. The situation is a parallel to the vacancy in the office of lieutenant governor, which required the election of two officials to that post last November.

THREE EXECUTED
Pennsylvania Executes Penalty From Murders

ROCKVIEW PENITENTIARY, BELLEFONTE, Pa., Jan. 14 — Three men were executed in rapid succession here early today for murder.

Tony Lucetti, 35, of West Brownsville, first of the trio to die, walked to the chair without an outward trace of fear, and was given a single shot. He was pronounced dead at 7:03 a. m.

He was followed by Benjamin Danarowicz, 32, of Philadelphia, pronounced dead at 7:13 a. m. and Charles Mellor, 22, also of Philadelphia, pronounced dead at 7:20 a. m.

Lucetti killed two coal and iron police at Vestaburg, Pa., when they sought to arrest him for bootlegging. Danarowicz killed his second wife and Mellor was convicted of the murder of the assistant manager of a Philadelphia theater in a holdup attempt.

DOCTORS END COLD QUICK, NOVEL WAY

Many Here Find Hospital Method Ends Colds in a Few Hours—Is Convenient For Home Use

Urging the danger of neglecting a cold during pneumonia weather, hospital physicians are recommending home use of a pleasant hospital method. And numbers of Marion people find that it gives almost instant relief—then quickly drives the cold out of one's system.

Miss Mildred Kearne, for example, had neglected a cold until congestion started spreading rapidly. Fearing pneumonia then she called her doctor, who advised double strength doses of Ayer's Pectoral, a concentrated mixture of wild cherry, terpin-hydrate and other ingredients which have relieved even the most extreme hospital cases.

With the first pleasant swallow she felt its comforting, healing warmth—from her nose passages deep down into her chest. In a few hours that "feverish, grippy" feeling began to disappear; she coughed less and could breathe easier through her nose. And in another day or so, doctors report, she was completely rid of the cold.

she was completely rid of the cold.

Note: Other cases reported daily—all certified by attending physician.

Just a few pleasant spoonfuls of Ayer's Pectoral now and you, too, will feel like a different person tomorrow. Endorsed by all druggists.

They're learning now to be the managers tomorrow

The future of agriculture lies in the hands of the boys and girls on the farms today.

The "Four-H" Clubs, made up of these young people, are spread all over the country. The name comes from the concern given to Head, Hand, Heart and Health.

The Big Four Route recognizes that our prosperity is founded on the prosperity of agriculture.

Our Agricultural Relations Department is manned by trained men and women who are cooperating with the Four-H Clubs and all other organizations working for the benefit and betterment of our farming interests.

ILLNESS FATAL TO WM. B. PROSSER, 72

Dies at Daughter's Home on Grand av.; Funeral
Tuesday

William Birdley Prosser, 72, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. M. D. Miller, 248 South Grand av., at 8:50 o'clock yesterday morning. Death was due to complications following a six months' illness.

Mr. Prosser was born in Lexington, O., to David and Mary (Glenn) Prosser on July 31, 1856.

Guard Against "Flu" With Musterole

Influenza, Grippe and Pneumonia usually start with a cold. The moment you get those warm, aches rub on good old Musterole.

Musterole relieves the congestion and stimulates circulation. It has all the good qualities of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the blister. First you feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief. Have Musterole handy for emergency use. It may prevent serious illness.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

Better than a mustard plaster was married to Miss Martha Grant in Lexington, 1872. She preceded him in death on July 29, 1925. Mr. Prosser was a member of the order of Knights of Pythias. He is survived by three sons, Earl, of Canton, Harter, of Detroit, and Leol, of Toledo, and three daughters, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. George C. Bohler, and Mrs. C. E. Anthony, all of Lexington. The Rev. C. G. Canfield, pastor of the First Church of the Brethren, will be in charge. Burial will be made in Marion cemetery.

BEWARE THE COUGHS THAT FOLLOW FLU!

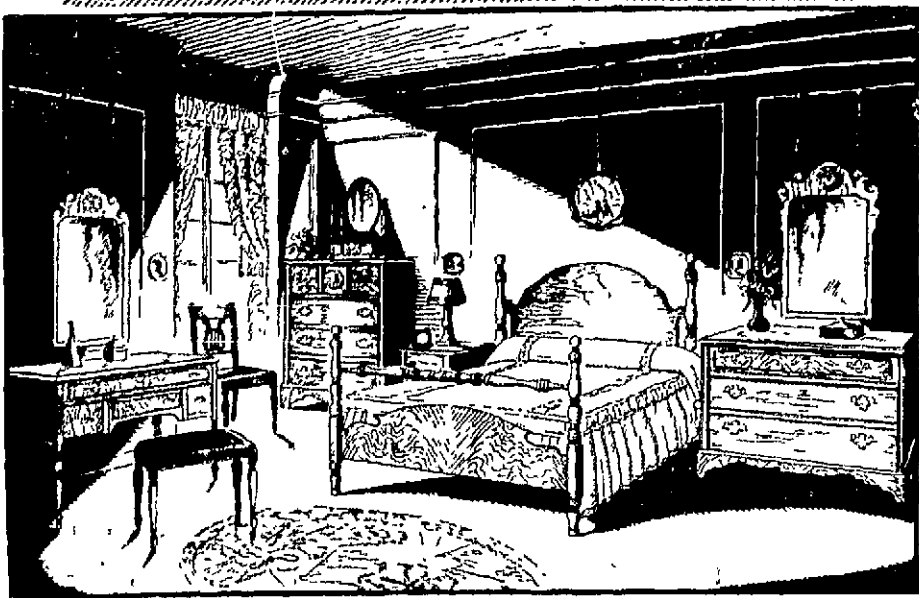

They May Weaken Your System and Lead to Serious Trouble

You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified croscote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs croscote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to croscote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the croscote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion may help you avoid flu, but is not sold as a flu remedy. If you have fever, or think you may have the flu, see your doctor immediately. (adv.)

GOOD *P*ERFORMANCE WITH *E*CONOMY

THE new Ford is more than a new automobile. It is the expression of an ideal—an ideal that looks to bringing the benefits of modern transportation to all the people.

Because of this purpose, the price is low and great care has been taken to insure economy of operation and up-keep. Few features are of greater importance to millions of motorists.

Conservative figures show that the new Ford averages 20 miles per gallon of gasoline, with many Ford owners reporting greater mileage on long trips. Oil consumption is also low per hundred miles. There is a considerable saving on tires due to the balance of the car, ease of steering and perfected wheel design.

All tires used on new Ford cars and recommended for replacement are specially built by leading tire manufacturers according to specifications laid down by the Ford Motor Company. Mechanical up-keep is low because of simplicity of design and the enduring quality that has been built into every part.

Large corporations have proved Ford economy

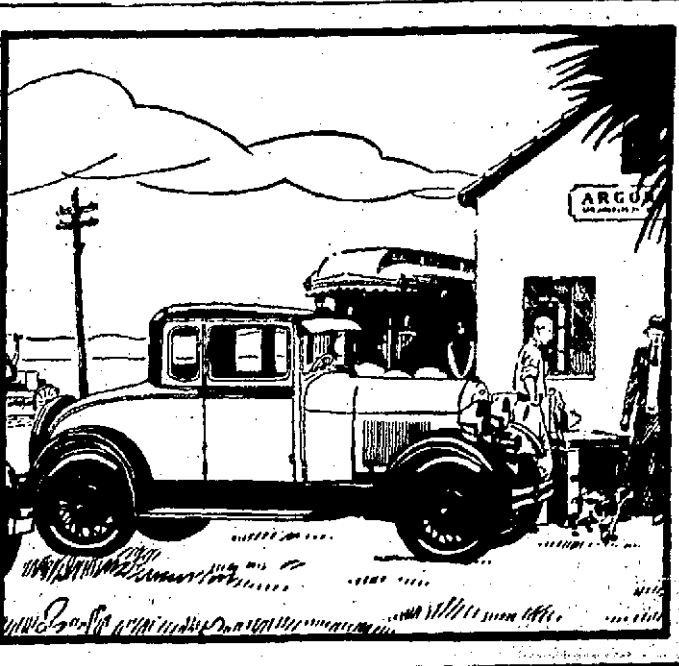

Definite evidence of the economy of the new Ford is shown in the repeated and growing purchases by Federal and city governments, by police departments, and by large industrial companies which keep day-by-day cost records.

The new Ford has been chosen only after exhaustive tests covering every feature of automobile value and performance—from the time of purchase to the final trade-in. Here the Ford policy of not making yearly changes serves to protect and maintain the investment of every Ford owner. All improvements in the new Ford are made so that present owners may take advantage of them quickly and at low cost.

The economy of good service at a fair price

The availability of Ford dealers throughout the world and close factory supervision of all service are additional reasons for the economy of the new Ford.

It has always been our belief that a sale does not complete the transaction between us and the buyer but establishes a new obligation on us to see that his car gives him service. We are as much

The new Ford Tudor Sedan. A splendid family car because of its economy, comfort, safety, reliability, speed, power, acceleration and ease of operation and control. Finished in a choice of beautiful two-tone color harmonies. Richly upholstered. All appointments fully nickeled.

The new Ford Coupe is a particularly good example of beauty and utility. Built to serve you faithfully and well for many thousands of miles. Equipped with Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield and four Houdaille hydraulic shock absorbers.

interested in his economical operation of the car as he is in our economical manufacture of it.

For that reason we have installed a system of controlled service to take care of all Ford car needs in an economical and improved manner. We wish all Ford owners to know what they are entitled to in this respect so that they may readily avail themselves of this service.

Ford service more important than sales

This service begins with proper instruction when you buy the car and includes a free inspection at 500, 1000 and 1500 miles. It continues as long as you are a Ford owner.

No matter where you live or where you go, you will never be very far from a Ford dealer who has been specially trained and equipped to give you courteous, intelligent, economical service. The cost of new parts is low because of the established Ford policy of doing business at a small margin of profit.

The purpose of Ford service is identical with that for which the car itself was built—to help you get many thousands of miles of pleasant, enjoyable motoring at a minimum of trouble and expense. "Good performance with economy" is the reason for the unusual value that is brought to you in the new Ford.

Daily Proverb—"Whatever you would that men should do unto you even so do unto them."

David Lake, North Dakota, reports a temperature of twenty-six degrees below zero. As the late Mr. Shakespeare has said, there's absolutely nothing in a name.

Eight youthful Chicago robbers, caught with the goods on them following the burglarizing of a hardware store and in possession of a stolen automobile, have been given sentences of "from one year to life." Even in Chicago, crime doesn't pay.

While the charge, that Professor Elmore Gearty, of the Jamontown, Tennessee, schools has been teaching evolution has been dismissed, the fact that it was made goes to show that Tennessee is just about as solicitous as ever about the feelings of the monkeys.

Surprise is expressed by a New York City paper that a portrait of Antonio Gramsci, one-time doge of Venice, by Titian, brought only $20,000 at a recent art sale there, we feel free to say that we have seen Titians we wouldn't want to keep hanging about the house for that money.

The Canadian Pacific railroad has announced that it will construct 1,200 miles of new track into virgin territory. Evidently the Canadian Pacific doesn't have to be sold to the idea that Canada is bound to develop.

Madrid reports that a document found last week in the archives of Pontevedra parish shows that Christopher Columbus was born there and not in Genoa, Italy. First thing we know we won't know any more about where the distinguished mariner was born than we do about where his bones may repose.

There should be no criticism, on account of his age, of the life sentence given that fourteen-year-old Pennsylvania boy for complicity in the York "witch" murder. If he was old enough to participate in a crime, he's old enough to stand punishment for it.

Some years ago we heard a lot about "making the world safe for democracy." Now we are told that the royal dictatorship in Yugoslavia is "not to suppress, but rather to cleanse democracy." We are beginning to wonder if the "democracy" business hasn't been a bit overdone.

Chemistry the Key.

"Billy" Evans, down at Ohio State university, has been awarded one of the most important honors extended in his branch of work. Around here every Ohio State knows who "Billy" Evans is. That's what he is called on the campus at Columbus. He is really Professor William Lloyd Evans, chairman of the department of chemistry at the university; his chief work has been investigation of the properties of carbohydrates, and he has been awarded the Nicholas medal this year by the New York section of the American Chemical society, one of the most distinguished honors in science. He began his researches twenty years ago in the laboratory at Ohio State university.

Well and good, but what does abstract chemistry mean to the man in the street? What does he care for test tubes and retorts and the action of catalytic agents and reaction of one element when combined with another? The answer is that he doesn't care. He doesn't know of the vast army of school and industrial and other research chemists bending over their laboratory tables so that his wife can wear rayon hosiery and be as satisfied with it as with silk. He doesn't think about it as he pours a patent anti-freeze solution into the radiator of the car. He doesn't think about the chemical and metallurgical processes that have been developed to refine his car, his home, his food.

It's the army of students in the laboratories which holds the key to an ever-spreading array of luxuries and refinements. Those who recall the recent coal conference at Pittsburgh easily realize that millions of atoms of power remain as yet unreleased in a chunk of coal. Chemistry will some day release them. Hundreds of products are yet to come from a coal base. Chemistry will discover them. Indeed, it has been declared that the future of a strip of land from the lakes down through eastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania is not in the air. We may find it at our feet. Coal conversion offers possibilities of an industrial expansion almost undreamed of. Instead of dirty coal mines and endless streams of coal cars we may some day see nothing but plants at the mouths of coal shafts—plants converting the coal into hundreds of varieties of material to be made into cloth to wear, building material, more efficient fuel, and perhaps classes of food to eat. The chemist has yet to gain even the threshold, despite his wonderful accomplishments thus far.

Fenn Reapportionment Bill.

The bill of Representative E. Hart Fenn, of Connecticut, for a reapportionment of the membership of the lower house of congress to conform to the provision of the constitution providing for decennial reapportionment, passed that body by an overwhelming vote, last week, and now goes to the senate, where the last preceding bill of the kind—that of 1921—was shelved.

The bill provides for the reapportionment of 435 representatives by the secretary of the department of commerce every ten years in the event that congress, at the first session following each decennial census, fails to enact a reapportionment bill.

Washington advises as to the effect that the house took action looking to automatic reapportionment as a means of circumventing such nullification of the constitution as has resulted from the failure of congress to reapportion on the basis of the 1920 census, responsibility for which nullification rests upon the members of states which would suffer reduction in representation and rural districts, which would lose members to the larger population centers, which are usually not.

It is good to know that the house has taken the action in this matter it has, and it is to be hoped that the bill will pass the senate, for the country is at a very poor example in law observance when the national legislating agency not only does not obey the law, but also studiously works to defy the basic law of the land.

That the bill will receive more consideration in the senate than the last reapportionment bill of 1921 was given is indicated by the assertions of the advocates of the measure that they will hold up the bill providing for the taking of the 1930 census until after the Fenn bill has been brought to a vote. Hence it may be taken that the present bill will not be shelved, as was the last reapportionment bill to go to the senate, for the reason that the census will cost the country something like $10,000,000, and $40,000,000 worth of patronage is nothing to be sneezed at, even in this day and age when our federal legislators think in billions.

Right is right, and wrong is wrong. The constitution provides that the membership of the lower house of congress shall be reapportioned every ten years. If the membership is held at its present size, or if it is enlarged, the result will be the same; some states will gain and some states lose representation in comparison to what their representation is at present, according to their population gain or loss, but that's the very reason that its framers wrote the decennial reapportionment provision into the constitution as they did.

As to what the result may be in regard to the wet or dry complexion of the house, we are not interested. The constitution makes no distinction between wet and dry populations. The population, under the law, decides the house representation regardless of whether it is wet or dry. The fact that the larger population centers generally are not can not legally prevent them from having the representation to which they are entitled. The prohibition amendment was not added to the constitution to nullify the constitution, although it may have worked for eight years to nullify it so far as reapportionment is concerned, but to make the country legally dry. Eaten for the dry law can not be advanced by the nullification of an older and more generally accepted law, founded on right and justice.

Sentences for a fourth offense which places in possession of liquor may be shrunk by Michigan from life to seven and a half to fifteen years. In the average case it might as well be life as the heavier sentence.

Detroit police shot and killed a kidnaper and extortionist and wounded his companion just as the two were securing $8,000 from a restaurant proprietor who had been threatened with being "taken for a ride" if he didn't come across. Late doesn't always swing the wrong way.

There's one advantage had by the people of a city without a professional league ball team; they do not have to devote their energies throughout the fireless season to building hopes for a pennant-winner only to have them crushed the following October.

Chicago police destroyed 123 slot machines seized in the recent raid on Chicago Heights, a suburb of the Windy City. Wherever crime flourishes that's where the punchboards and the slot machines may be found. They are inseparable.

Chicago is claiming a present population of 3,215,000 and expects a "metropolitan" population of 4,500,000 by the middle of 1929. Of course, to accomplish the latter figure, Chicagoans will have to count in DuPage, Kane, Lake and Will counties in Illinois in addition to Cook, and Lake county over in Indiana, but the people of the Windy City never hesitate over a little proposition like that.

The President Roosevelt's time enroute back on her first trip to Havana was three hours better than that of the Caronia, but the latter carried 102 passengers to thirty-four on the Roosevelt. Wouldn't you think people who had been visiting Havana would satisfy their desire for alcoholic refreshment while there without wanting to liquor up all the way back?

Roaring was brought about in a Berlin theater when 200 men discovered that they had been deceived into patronizing the show, each having received a letter stating that a beautiful young blonde of independent means desired to meet him there with a view to marriage and would wear white roses as a means of identification. The late Phineas T. Barnum didn't overstate the case a bit.

ONE REASON HERBERT RETURNED EARLY.

To Stop Fermentation.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

A few days ago I talked with a friend in Washington about health and how to keep it. He spoke about the alkaline water, and various remedies which are prescribed to overcome acidity. My friend is not a doctor, but he is a thinker. In my contacts with him I find he has thought through to logical conclusions many important matters.

In this connection he pointed out how many persons of his acquaintance suffer from the effects of excessive acidity of the system. He is right about it. Many people do suffer a lot from this cause.

Why is acidity so common?

There are two chief reasons:

First—We don't eat regularly of correct combinations of food.

Second—Too many civilized men suffer from constipation. Almost invariably acidity follows.

Show me nine persons who are restless and sleepless at night. At least seven or eight of them will be the victims of habitual constipation. There is no one thing so productive of disturbed sleep as constipation.

The blood, if it is normal, is either neutral or it is slightly alkaline. That is, it is neither acid nor alkaline, or else it is just a bit alkaline.

Acidity of the blood is the cause for serious disturbances. It is fundamental to many ailments.

I wish I knew how many acidinit tablets are sold every year. The number must be tremendous. It seems to me that a day never passes but I see somebody taking one or asking for bicarbonate of soda. It is sought to overcome the disagreeable acidity by taking doses of a neutralizing agent.

The vegetables and fruits carry agents which are alkaline producing. Of course, this is not true of all of them, but it is of many. If you are inclined to acidity you should make a study of those matters, seeking to regulate the diet so as to get in a natural way the alkaline substances your digestion requires.

Oranges, apples and other splendid fruits have juices which contain vegetable acids. But, strange to say, they are not utilized by the system as acids in the laboratory of the body; they are converted into alkalies and have a neutralizing effect upon the acids developed by the body processes.

The fruits and vegetables possess other qualities besides the one to which I have referred. They contain a quantity of fibrous, indigestible material. This we speak of as "roughage." These substances act in a sense like brushes to cleanse the intestinal walls and to hasten the discharge of waste from the body.

If the food is too well refined it supplies nothing to give body to the intestinal content. There is nothing for the muscular walls to work upon and to drive along its course the waste substance.

In the absence of proper intestinal action constipation is sure to occur. The longer the mass remains in the bowel the greater the degree of fermentation and the greater the acidity. "Acid fermentation" is inevitable and acidity of the system will result.

In rather an unscientific way perhaps I have told you how excessive acidity originates. I hope you will govern your habits so as to avoid it.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES.

Q. R. L. R. Q.—How can I improve my circulation?

A.—What is the cause of insomnia?

A.—This may be done by building up your entire system. A run down state of health is usually responsible for poor circulation.

Q.—Many cases of insomnia are due to intestinal disturbances, constipation worry and overwork. Locate the underlying cause and treatment can be prescribed.

Q.—Correct the diet, by cutting down on sugar, starches and coffee. Eat simple food. Avoid constipation.

Q. A. Q.—Would a nervous condition cause a breaking out all over the body? If not, what would cause a rash, resembling little pimples filled with water?

A.—Yes, the trouble is very likely due to hives and may be caused by nerve constipation, a food poisoning, which produces hives, or there may be a possible kidney condition. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

Q. C. Q.—What can be done for acidity in the system?

A.—Avoid excessive sweets and acid-producing foods and keep the system clear. See the article above.—Copyright, 1929, Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Dr. Copeland will answer for readers of this paper questions on medicinal, hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. Where the subject of a letter is such that it can not be published in this column, Dr. Copeland will, when the question is a proper one, write you personally if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is enclosed. Editorial Opinion.

LINKING THE AMERICAS

A Pan-American highway, long cherished as a possibility by the more imaginative of statesmen, has come into the realm of probability. Good beginnings have been made by Mexico and several states of Central America, although the entire project is still so involved as to be well nigh useless. But public officials of all American nations are now aware of his manifest advantages of a well-developed highway system, and may be expected to press the matter in their respective countries.

The chief advantages of such a highway will be, on a local scale, the economic impetus given to those countries, and, on a larger scale, the cultural linking of the American republics. No one pretends that such a highway is to be a freight line, save for short hauls to the seacoast or to a railroad, but this alone will justify the cost of construction. And if such a road, suitable for motor traffic, is completed from the Texas border to Chile and Argentina, we may expect a new type of cultural linking between the Latin and Anglo-Saxon nations of this hemisphere.

The scenic wonders of Mexico and Central America, the historic remains of earlier civilization in Peru, the incomparable majesty of the Andes in Bolivia, Peru and Chile—these things will attract thousands of North Americans, once the way is opened by a cooperative road-building project. Just what the United States can do toward this end is not entirely clear, but at least it can make available its findings relative to the construction of modern motor roads, as well as expert technical advisers to aid in actual construction work. An admirable beginning was made by Mr. Hoover when he stressed the importance of a good-roads system in his conference with Latin-American officials.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

CONGRESSMAN BECK SEATED

After a contest lasting more than thirteen months, Congressman James M. Beck has been seated. The contest was precipitated by a gentleman from Tennessee, when Mr. Beck sought to take the seat to which he had been elected by the First district of Pennsylvania on November 8, 1927.

The objection to his being allowed to do so was based on the allegation that he was not a resident of Pennsylvania in the season of the constitutional provision that no person shall be a representative who is not, at the time of his election, an inhabitant of the state in which he shall be chosen.

This constitutional limitation, which blocked the introduction into this country of the British practice of candidates standing for seats remote from their homes and local interests, obviously has the advantage of obtaining representatives who at least know something about their constituencies and therefore is not to be lightly transgressed, but a weaker case than Mr. Beck's in which to put it to test could hardly have been chosen. A native of Philadelphia and a member of its bar, Congressman Beck has practiced law for more than forty years in that city, as well as in New York and Washington. The presumption is, therefore, that to his other outstanding qualifications for membership in the house, a fair knowledge of the needs of his district may be added, without doing violence to probability. Anyway, his constituents, with the facts before them, sent him to congress by a vote of 61,900, against 2,500 for his opponent.—Detroit Free Press.

"We are waiting to find out. Mother gave him a fountain pen for a birthday present."

"What must be done to deference to the ideas of our ancestors?"

"To a certain extent," answered Mr. Chuggins. "But no amount of deference is going to persuade me to try to drive a trotting horse through a street that is full of automobiles."

Buddy Hunter, an eight-year-old, came home the other day from a visit to his grandmother.

"Mother," he inquired, "do you know why they call them 'grandmothers'?"

Mother proceeded to explain the relationship, but she only got about half way through when Buddy interrupted with:

"Now, that's not the reason. It's because they are grander to little boys than mothers are."

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. MINTYRE.

New York, Jan. 14.—Diary of a modern Peppys: Up and through the money marts of Wall Street, nor did I find myself sluggish with sordid desires. And about to Battery park and watched the spiraling sea gulls, screaming wanton madrigals, and racing toward red liner funnels at sea.

To a luncheon for Miss E. M. Daisfield who wrote "Till," and talked to a lady poet every one seemed to know and of whom I had never heard. But did not tell her so, yet she asked in what sort of work I was engaged and I told her plumbing supplies.

In the evening to a party where came Joe Topitzky, James Talbot, E. D. Coblentz, A. C. Andrews, W. B. Joyce, Jr., and others and to a play, then on to a night club, but others and places have become as dull as dishwater. So left for home early to read Irving's "Knickerbocker History of New York."

New York has a Michael Angelo of the boot-making art. He charges $1,000 for the first pair of shoes and caters, as you might guess, only to the very rich who have business sense. Just like waiters, reporters and other ordinary mortals. After he has adjusted orthopedic difficulties with the first pair, duplicates are furnished for $100.

New York has been sufficed this winter with prices—an epidemic. But reliable authorities say the price business is played out. Most of them were those given much earlier in Russia and they cut social camps until society learned a price is the lowest form of nobility over there. A price has about the same standing as two third rate drosky drivers. So the boys had to go to work and you can now employ a prince for almost any job from riding the dog to fetching a centile of coal. I've always thought I like to have a prince with a monocle shoo my shoes.

And among the other gyps who prey on foolish society here are those who form exclusive—O, very—clubs, and charge anywhere from $100 to $500 for membership cards. They are supposed to offer ballroom dancing where "Social Register" does not have to meet the declassé. But in a few weeks they become about as exclusive as Grand Central station. Scarcely any one lasts out the season, but there are always suckers galore for another.

There is always a place, too, in the so-called "100," for the glitzy young gips who play a smart game of bridge and dances divinely. They are the sort with a British accent, like actors, live in a hall bedroom, receive mail at smart hotels and are what fashionable tailors call "clothes conscious."

Speaking of style, when George Ade was in town recently he attended an affair where Irving Gohl was a guest. Gohl came adorned splendidly and correctly in the latest cut in evening clothes, and even had a waxed flower in his lapel. Ade looked his friend over carefully. "Irvin," he said, "you are the type who can have clothes made in Bond street, your shirts and ties in Place Vendome, be halted in Vienna and mentioned in Monte Carlo, but you will still look Pudeuch."

I know a talented fellow who is writing a book "Are the Rich Happy?"—that is not precisely it, but near enough—and he has admitted he never had more than $350 at one time. But in reading over his manuscript he has convinced me the rich are never happy. I felt a little—about not quite—like dancing out and giving a quarter or something away.

The swankiest in shooting clubs for New Yorkers is in North Carolina, and one of them features a touch of slavery days. When a guest arrives he is met at the depot by a doorman who takes his luggage and announces: "Boss, is your black boy?" And he serves no one else during the visitor's stay.

After serious introspection on the subject of knoofling, I believe the perfect example is the "Bright Sophisticate" who talks to a cafe waiter in French, knowing he speaks English just as well as I, but near enough to amuse still extremely smart. Copyright, 1929, by the McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

Scrap-Book Libraries.

BY GARIETT P. SERVISS.

A woman who does me the honor to offer a suggestion occasionally, has just written about her system of scrapbooks, for the passing of which she utilizes, "Old ready Congressional Report books which were otherwise beasted."

Thus she starts with a clear judgment of relative values. People often begin scrapbooks, but after a time lose interest in keeping them up, principally because they have not this little secret of using them continually as a reference library and a thought factory. By this plan her interest is kept alive and active. If you never read and reread your scrapbooks, and think over them, they will be of no use to you or anybody. But if you do regularly run through them you will find them endlessly interesting and extremely valuable for consultation and inspiration. Merely keeping up the indexes implies more or less rereading, and rethinking.

My correspondent says that she often uses her scrapbooks "for the school children and even for the college boys and girls." But chiefly she finds them an inducement to systematic mental activity devoid other channels of expression.

Here we have the scrapbook exalted to a high level in self-culture. It serves to systematize knowledge and thought as fast as knowledge grows. The progress of science, the advance of technology and philosophy are thus woven daily into the mentality of the scrapbookkeeper. Memory is reinforced, meditation is stimulated, lines of thought are developed with continuity. The scrapbook thus becomes a vastly magnified notebook, connected and readable. The world's progress runs through it, leaving its permanent marks for reference, whereby alone it can be measured.

But this implies that scrapbooks capable of such service to their keeper shall be based upon a preliminary plan, and steady purpose. You may paste scraps on a single subject, which is a good thing for a specialist or, if this woman, you may arrange them to cover substantially the whole field of human life. In either case they will promote the systematic mental activity, which she finds so valuable. But the character of this activity depends on the scope of the books.

To keep a system of scrapbooks like hers, and to use them as she does, is to greatly enrich existence. The infinitely varied pageant of the world's life passes rapidly before the eyes, and as neither be fully comprehended in its complex relations, or fully impressed upon the memory in its multiplicity of impressions. But a well-chosen scrapbook fixes the picture and at the same time continuously records its progressive changes. Books, we may say, do the same thing. Yes, but they do it indiscriminately and too abundantly. Your scrapbook may easily contain ten years of a thousand volumes. It is catalogued, you own making, shaped by the trend of your own mind, and helping to shape the development of your intelligence.

There are many people who do not know how to entertain their minds harmlessly and helpfully. They find it difficult to fix them upon any systematic occupation. Some of this state of affairs, go to the devil, sink into melancholy. It would be a fine thing for such people to keep scrapbooks after the system of my friend, which is very simple.

All clippings are separated according to subject matter, and put in chronological order in separate books, or sometimes in separate sections of an exceptionally large book. But behind this mere mechanism of the system is something highly important, viz., repeated consultation of the books and meditation on the story of progress that they tell. After all an idea is not easily carried.—Copyright, 1929, International Feature Service, Inc.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

We are constantly told that the taste of the general public is low, and we have many reasons to believe it is true. And yet there is much to make us believe that in the ten years the public taste is fairly sound. It was not many years ago that the owner of one of the first motion picture shows was accustomed to hire women at so much per hour to attend his show, and to make them respectable. People thought of the motion-picture and the motion-picture business as light and trivial and of doubtful value. As the educational aspects of the movies came to be emphasized and as more and more money was spent to make the shows of importance, patronage increased. The public came when there was something worth while to see. Today the most successful pictures are the best pictures.

Speaking of public taste we ought to be encouraged to note that books of real value, books of importance, come finally to attract the greatest attention and affection of the public. No book of the year in the way of biography, that has come under the observation of a column of criticism is so worth while, so clearly and forcefully, and beautifully written as "Masks in a Pageant" by William Allen White. No review of our present day civilization, as far as this writer knows, is so important or so fascinating as "Living in the Twentieth Century," by Harry Elmer Barnes. If you want to brush up on United States history, get the text book "The American People," by David Saville Muzzey. It's all in one volume.

Nobody can disparage patriotism. Love of one's country is the beginning of good citizenship. But there is something else that ought always to go with patriotism. It is the intellectual mind. Love of one's own country without attention to the other fellow's country, his excellencies, his problems, and his viewpoints, is a narrow, half-developed, unintelligent patriotism. That sort of patriotism isn't enough to have any great part in building a better house for mankind to live in.

Jobs Vary For Student Working for Education

Marion Star Bureau
Ohio State University
COLUMBUS, Jan. 14.—The influence of the aid of the Ohio State University Y. M. C. A. officials in landed jobs for students who are required to work while attending school, is revealed in the recent report containing statistics for the autumn quarter which closed before the Christmas holidays.

During the autumn term, according to Clardy S. Steinmetz, assistant secretary of the campus Y. M. C. A., positions were obtained for 457 men students. Of this number 188 have been given efficient work to enable them to continue in school throughout the entire year.

The jobs taken by the students paid a total sum of $33,335.25, it was announced in the report. Estimated value of the jobs given out during the year of 1935 totalled approximately $50,000, Steinmetz stated.

Jobs Vary

Jobs taken by students during the autumn quarter varied from positions as magicians to night watchmen in funeral homes, the employment office maintains. A majority of the students found employment as table waiters and furnace caretakers in the various halls, fraternity and sorority houses on the campus.

An effort is made by the Y. M. C.
A. employment bureau to land jobs for all of the students desiring work while attending classes at the university. Purses are taken also to get the positions so that they can be worked during the student's spare moments.

Behind the Scenes in Hollywood

WILL ROGERS

BY DOROTHY HERZOG
Marion Star Staff Writer

NEW YORK—Manhattan's Grand Canyon of theater is certainly the only paradise to one grown accustomed to a town that folds in around ten strikes.

Ran into Mrs. Archie Mayo, wife of "My Man" megaphone, in the Ritz lobby 'tother noon. The Mayos are headed for home by now, and glad to cinder back to Hollywood's expansive. Both have enjoyed poor health whilst here, particularly Archie, who homed a slew of his genus the weeks he New Yorked.
Curiously enough, Archie was at an-time a cave dweller in Tin Pan Alley, where genres frolic and appropriate in de luxe style. But California has a way of toning down the most temperamental constitution.

Screen epitaph:
"Here lies poor
Lester Kaiser.
He talked back
To his supervisor."

From ye Film Village 3,000 miles away meanders a note pertaining to Polly Moran, the lady celluloid Jester.
Polly's fan mail, it seems, has increased in leaps and bounds and has put her in touch with 15 former school mates.

"Funny thing," puzzles Polly, rubbing her nose tenderly, "they're all prosperous and don't want a single thing—not even an autographed photo!"

Will Rogers laudens the coming of the talky film. The estimable Will complains he used to meet his cronies from the coast and be greeted in this wise:

"Hi, Will, you ole son-of-a-gun.
How's tricks?"

Now, with the talkies here and action an art, all silent drama players are striving to capture, Rogers says he is greeted thus:

"How do you do, Will," each word carefully rounded, mouthed and given forth. "How are you feeling these days?"
"I ain't so sure after that how I'm feelin'," grieves Rogers.

Negotiations, I understand, have stalled but not fallen through 'twixt
Jed Harris, producer of "The Front Page," et cetera, and Walter Wagner of Famous Players, whereby Harris became affiliated with F. P. The idea, I am told, is for Harris to control his own producing unit, or units, and devote himself exclusively to this work. The salary is estimated as staggering and may be visualized in plump six-figure numbers with a heavy dollar mark leading the procession. If Jed Harris eventually decides to lead a talky contingent for Famous Players and abandon his lucrative stage producing, it will mark an overwhelming step forward for the dickies.

There's no question that Broadway is beset with the lure of talky pictures. Usually it will mean double salary per picture. I am told that Jeanne Eagles, who just finished

"The Letter" for Famous, received approximately $75,000 for this talky.
Agents have corralled a flock of stage names and are endeavoring to sell them to motion picture companies.
The small player fry is also over the prospect of making in a nest fortune in the movies.

The larger fry consider the situation with critical but cool mind.
Many consider the talkies merely a novelty but one which few of the producing organizations are able to cope with at this time or for some time to come.

Many cogitate over the recent rate taken in a local picture theater.
Audiences for a week voted on the question: Which do you prefer—talky or silent films? And 85 per cent voted for silent film. I wonder what other audiences think of the same query and how they would vote.

And—that's all.

Listerine checks SORE THROAT because powerful against germs

Germs cause sore throat, and its result, a cold.

You can often escape them by using Listerine full strength at the first symptom. Millions employ it as first aid.

Because, full strength, Listerine is powerful against germs. It kills even the stubborn B. Typhosus (typhoid) germ, for example, in 15 seconds. Repeated tests show it.
Yet Listerine is as safe as you can use it in any body cavity.

When sore throat doesn't yield quickly to Listerine, it is a matter for your doctor to treat. Write for

WITH MARINES

Marion Recruit Completing Preliminary Training for Service

John Stewart Court, of Marion, will soon complete his preliminary training at Parris Island, S. C., for service with the U. S. Marines according to a report of enlistments at that training station received here today.

Court was born in Marion, and until recently made his home with his mother, Mrs. Lucille Key, 521 East Church st. He joined the Marine corps at Cincinnati a few weeks ago and was sent to Parris Island for training. Within a few weeks he will probably leave for some foreign station, go aboard a naval vessel, or be assigned to some special duty with the Marines, report states.

Court enlisted for four years, and during this period free educational courses, taught by the Marine Corps Institute, are available to him.
Many young men take advantage of these studies and complete their enlistments, especially equipped to take up some trade, art, or profession.

Everybody is cordially invited to

LONG SLEEP MAKES

BABY HAPPY AGAIN

"Our baby kept waking me several times a night, until we started giving him a little Castoria after his last nursing," says an Iowa mother. "He slept soundly from the first night and it made him feel and look worlds better." Baby specialists endorse Castoria; and millions of mothers know how this purely vegetable, harmless preparation helps babies and children, with colic, constipation, colds, diarrhea, etc. The Vetcher signature is always on the wrapper of genuine Castoria. PRESENT PAGEANT

Christian Church Societies in Charge of Program

Mrs. E. L. Weiner, as representative of the Woman's Missionary society, Miss Anna Robins, representing the Circle Girls and Miss Kathryn Schneider, representing the Triangle girls, of Central Christian church, were in the leading roles in a pageant presented at the church Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock. About 25 members of the missionary societies in the church took part in the presentation. The pageant told the story of missionaries from the foreign countries and the United States, each telling their part in the mission work. Colorful costumes were worn by the participants and a candle light recession made an effective finale for the hour's program. Special songs were sung by the choir.

SOCIETY PLANNING

THANK OFFERING

Kluge Herald, Epworth M. E. church, discussed plans for taking a thank offering in the near future, when the society met Saturday afternoon in the church basement. Miss Lucy Jane Brown gave a talk about the kindergarten school at Lima, Peru, where the offerings are sent. A chapter of the study book was reviewed by Mrs. W. F. Linton. Feb. 9 a meeting will be held at the church.

Among those attending are Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Prentissman, Mrs. D. L. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Warner, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Berger, Miss Blanche Seltz, and Mr. and Mrs. Lorin Myers. Those attending from here are to be present at the reception following the inaugural ceremonies. Women of the local delegation were to attend a tea during the afternoon.

GIVES ADDRESS

Silk Mills Manager Speaks at Salem Evangelical Church

The importance of the part of the Men's Bible classes in the homes in training of children, was one of the points stressed by W. F. Bartholomew, general manager of the Susquehanna Silk Mills, when he addressed the Men's Bible class of the Salem Evangelical church, yesterday morning from 9:30 until 10 o'clock. The talk was the first of a series which the Rev. G. A. Kandler, pastor, has arranged for the men.

Mr. Bartholomew spoke on general class welfare, the importance of attendance, the support of the pastor and service to the class.

Designed for use on shipboard, a new tennis game has been invented in which balls are aimed at targets, from which they return by chutes to be struck again.

FIGHT flu
this simple way

Remove germs from hands often with this purifying toilet soap

THE grip of influenza is firm upon the nation. In one week alone, officials reported a million and a quarter new cases.

No one should take needless risks now, health authorities advise—fight flu constantly, they urge. Take every precaution, even if the malady appears to be mild in your community. And, in safeguarding yourself, bear in mind that hands may spread flu, just as they carry and spread the germs of other serious diseases.

Our hands gather germs everywhere. Money, telephones, carstaps, doorknobs—and many more things, that we must daily touch in common with others, may leave the hands germ-laden. This explains why all authorities attach so much importance to clean hands.

A real safeguard

The Life Extension Institute has established seven protective measures to help you guard yourself and family. See panel at right, particularly Rule 2—keep hands germ-free. A vital precaution, yet so simple to carry out. Just have everyone in your family wash often with Lifebuoy—the purifying toilet soap that removes germs as well as dirt.

The doorknob your hands must touch daily make ideal transfer stations for disease germs.

For health's sake, make Lifebuoy a regular habit. Remove germs from hands often, not only in times of epidemics, but always—just as doctors do to protect themselves and patients.

Don't fear Flu—fight it
these seven ways

- Rules established by the LIFE EXTENSION INSTITUTE
- 1 Keep out of crowds all you can.
 - 2 Remove germs from hands as often as possible.
 - 3 Get plenty of rest, sleep, exercise, fresh air and nourishing food.
 - 4 Avoid exposure to cold and wet, especially when tired.
 - 5 Fortify yourself to resist the flu by having a health examination.
 - 6 If you have the real flu don't take "home remedies"—call a doctor.
 - 7 Be careful in confinement. It is a danger period.

Millions love its clean scent

The same delightful, mild and antiseptic Lifebuoy lather that guards health by removing germs—keeps skins fresh and clear by purifying pores. Prevents embarrassing body odors, too.

Lifebuoy's pleasant, extra-clean scent, which vanishes as you rinse, tells you it gives greater protection. Start using Lifebuoy today as a common sense health measure.

Highlights in Cooper's Address

COLUMBUS, Jan. 11—Highlights taken from Gov. Myers' address at Cooper's inaugural address follow:

"I should be untrue to life's convictions which I hold if I did not on this serious occasion, emphasize my belief in the all-wise being to whom I shall continually look for inspiration and guidance in directing the affairs of our state."

"There must be general avoidance of that type of legislation which, however well intentioned, disorganizes and demoralizes our industrial and economic life."

"The adoption of hasty and ill-considered laws should be avoided. The paths of progress in government activity follow a course of clear thinking and sound reasoning."

"The most important safeguard of democracy is an assurance of honest elections."

"There is no greater responsibility than that of encouraging thrift among our people. We must take every precaution to protect their investments."

"We must plan broadly to the end that human suffering may be alleviated and that every possible means be taken to restore rehabilitation and make comfort to the unfortunate entrusted to state care."

WIAAT RITES HELD

Funeral Services for Marion Merchant Conducted at Home

Last rites were held this afternoon for Charles G. Wiant Merchant, merchant who passed away early Saturday morning. The services took place at his home, 24 East Center street, at 11:30 a. m. The Rev. C. A. Wood, pastor of Trinity Baptist church, was in charge, assisted by Dr. H. F. George, pastor of I. W. M. church. Burial was made in Marion cemetery.

Mr. Wiant in business here 43 years. He later a Co. with the U. S. Army and was developed into a major.

Funeral services were held at St. John's Episcopal church, 111 E. Church street, at 11:30 a. m. Charles I. Dietz, pastor of the church, was in charge.

16 and 40 No Excess Fat

It's easy to avoid

Everybody knows that excess fat is nowhere near so common as it was. Mothers look like daughters. Slender figures are the rule. You should know how scientific research has brought this change about.

Science has discovered that a great cause of excess fat lies in a deficient gland. No starvation, no over work can cure it. The cause must be corrected and that lies in a gland which largely controls nutrition.

Modern physicians in treating obesity, attack that cause. They supply the lack. That is why excess fat has so fast disappeared in late years. Slender figures are the vogue.

A great medical laboratory, years ago, embodied this new method in Marmola's prescription tablets. People have used them for over 20 years—millions of boxes of them. You see the results wherever you look. There is new youth and beauty, new health and vitality. Excess fat is nowhere near so common as it was.

Do what these people have done—millions of them for 21 years. They have seen the fat go, seen new youth and vigor come back. Friends all about you will testify to that.

Every box of Marmola's contains the formula also the reasons for results. You will know exactly why these good effects appear. Get back to normal weight in this scientific way. Fat is a disease. You will benefit in many ways when the cause is ended. Start now.

Marmola's prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 per box. If your druggist is out, he will get them at once from his jobber.

The Pleasant Way to Reduce

Our assurance for the future is in the sterling character, high purpose and intrinsic worth of our citizens. Let us ever be mindful of our duty, teaching that there is no excuse without great labor."

Let us become imbued with the thought that the worth and value of each citizen is measured by the work and effort he is expending in useful occupation.

"There is no royalty in America except that which comes in the recognition of a worthy task well performed."

"In the face of expending needs of government, the problem which is here and must now be solved is forthwith to put a stop to waste, extravagance and incompetence and to outlaw, once and for all, favoritism in the management of the people's business."

A public policy of economy is of far greater consequence than that of saving money since its great value lies in the saving of people.

"The motivating purpose which will characterize this administration will be that of a helpful at."

BOXING SHOW TOPS BUSY SPORT WEEK

JOE GANS IS MAIN FIGHT ATTRACTION; LEAGUE TEAMS PLAY

Harding Cagers Face Second League Opposition at Bucyrus

BY KARL R. M'ELROY
Sports Editor, The Star

The only thing that will keep sports fans in Marion from making a complete week of it will be the lack of money. Promoters of various ways to entice the filly huns from the dark places have seen to the fact that fans will have plenty to do.

Toppling a busy week of home sport activities will be the 32-round boxing show at the Eagles hall tonight featuring the engagement between California Joe Gans of Toledo and Norb Smith of Akron. These boys are rated as the best to show in Marion in the past several years. Ray Snyder, Marion, and Joe Brady, show of Newark, will away punches in a semi-final. Sixteen rounds of preliminary events complete the card.

Those with a leaning toward basketball will not be left in the cold to-night for Star auditorium will be the scene of Industrial league battles.

WITH the second round scheduled to get under way, the College Millable line is out to upset the league leaders, Osceola, in the outstanding contest slated. The Boone non-Excavators tangle with the C. D. & M. Knappas quiet in the second game, while the third will find the Power-Hockings taking on the Steam Shovel.

Senior and Intermediate Sunday School league teams will see action on two floors of the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday night and Saturday afternoon the Junior league will start its stuff.

Wednesday and Thursday nights will be silent while fans are regaining their voices for two feature contests Friday. In Star auditorium St. Mary's is anticipating some tough opposition from the Fostoria Parochial school. This contest is listed as one of the strongest on the Marion school's schedule. Friday, the team will journey to Columbus for a contest with the Sacred Heart's.

Harding at Bucyrus
THE road between Marion and Bucyrus will be filled with traffic as Harding high school fans awaken to the fact that Coach Compton has rubbed the lamp the right way and developed a team of potential North Central Ohio league championship caliber.

Last week Harding pulled a big surprise by knocking off Mansfield's highly touted quintet. Two more tough games remain ahead of the locals and Bucyrus is one of them. From indications there will be no chance to "luck" through with a title and Harding must win every league encounter this season to copy the honors.

Coach Compton will start working his aggression tonight for this battle. The team is in good condition after its game at Mansfield and is all set for the tilt at Bucyrus.

Wesley Fesler, All-American End, May Develop Into Four Sport Man at State

COLUMBUS, Jan. 14.—Wesley Fesler, product of Youngstown and end par excellent on the 1928 Ohio State University football team, gives promise as a possible candidate for the "All-around" title on the Ohio campus—a rare four sport man.

After being named on practically every All-American team of importance in the country at the close of the 1928 grid season, Fesler turned his attention to basketball and has already won a regular berth. He plays either guard or center with equal efficiency and has proved to be a scoring power in the attack of the Buckeyes.

With another quarter term of his sophomore year to go, Fesler will have two choices of athletic activity in the spring in track and baseball. Youngstown South High School, where Fesler received his early training, did not boast a baseball team when he was in school, but those familiar with his diamond prowess claim he has the makings of an excellent first baseman. His brother, Ray, was captain of the rarity baseball team at Ohio State several years ago and was one of the best outfielders in Buckeye history.

In track Fesler holds a high school mark of five feet, seven inches in the high jump and 11 feet in the pole vault, both respectable interscholastic marks. To be sure, he now weighs some 15 pounds more than he did in high school, but this should prove no handicap to him on the claders.

At Youngstown he earned letters in football and basketball for two years and one in track.

His brother, Ray, was captain of the

TECH FACES HEAVY SEASON NEXT YEAR

Eight Conference Games. Notre Dame Compose 1929 Grid Program

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 14.—After setting a Southern conference pace for difficult football schedules for several years, Georgia Tech has completed a schedule program for 1929 that eclipses even their current season.

Eight conference games and one interconference game, that with Notre Dame, compose it. Two new eleven are added to replace two 1928 foes who do not appear on the card.

The University of Florida, at present undefeated in the conference race and a team that will survive practically intact next year, are replacing Virginia Military Institute and Oglethorpe on the schedule.

Tech will open the season in October against the Aggies, while North Carolina and Florida will follow in the order named. Tulane is fourth on the schedule.

Notre Dame, once more, is scheduled to play on Grant Field by the old home-and-home agreement. Tech will meet Vanderbilt in Nashville next year. Alabama occupies approximately the same date as this year, and the old fixture with Auburn for Thanksgiving day will be renewed.

The schedule for 1929 follows: Oct. 5—Mississippi A. & M. in Atlanta.

Oct. 12—North Carolina in Atlanta.

Oct. 19—Florida in Atlanta.

Oct. 26—Tulane in New Orleans.

Nov. 2—Notre Dame in Atlanta.

Nov. 9—Vanderbilt in Nashville.

Nov. 16—Alabama in Atlanta.

Nov. 23—Auburn in Atlanta.

Dec. 7—Georgia in Atlanta.

DEMPSEY RECEIVES BID FROM STONEHAM TO FIGHT IN N. Y.

Confers with Fitzsimmons Making Offer To Promote Titular Bout

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Not wishing to prattle needlessly about other people's business or anything like that, but the fact of the matter is that Jack Dempsey today is in a receipt of a definite bid from Charles A. Stoneham to fight for the heavyweight championship at the Polo grounds this summer. Mr. Stoneham has been identified as the man who first discovered that the New York Giants could bear up very manfully without Rogers Hornsby.

The offer was carried to Dempsey as he passed through town on Saturday night by Floyd Fitzsimmons, who may be identified as the confidential man in the Dempsey camp; also as the promoter, in name at least, of the Dempsey-Misake championship fight at Rensselaer, Mich. Fitzsimmons was suspected at the time of promoting on Kearns and Dempsey money but that merely goes to show how snugly the book up may fit. Dempsey is believed to have exercised a sort of patrimony over Fitz these many years.

Fitz Talks Things Over
As for Stoneham, it is evident that he either hasn't been reading the theorists very closely or he firmly believes that you can't rule a guy out for trying. In any case, Fitzsimmons was booked to make a late train out of town on Thursday night but something must have happened because the poor fellow missed it.

It is possible that the "something" in question may have been a tip that Stoneham wished to have words with him. Anyhow, they had words and plenty of them for upward of several hours on Friday afternoon and, to show you how a habit like that will get you, the same train that Fitz was to have made on Thursday went on about his business on Saturday and Fitz wasn't on that one, either.

He was at the station to meet Dempsey and he rode off with him in the same taxicab, biz-buzzing the wheels.

Stoneham, of course, is looking to Fitzsimmons to produce Dempsey. If Fitzsimmons can produce the title he can be produced. The title itself is no more a stranger to prize fight promotion than is Fitzsimmons, except that he made no money very rapidly while Fitz has not been without his successes. Two of these were the Leonard-White and Gibbons-Carpenter meetings, both of which were box office wows to a greater or less degree. Stoneham promoted a couple of Greb fights for the middleweight title, sponsored the Crispin-Killbuck affair, guaranteeing the latter $300,000 and then passed quietly away, defeated for the time being. He never lost the hanker for the big money of the racket, however, and with Richard in his grave, he probably sees a chance to cash.

Connected With Garden
He may never get it, for several reasons, and neither of them has anything to do with Dempsey's present tie-up with the Garden.

The arrangement expires March 1 and, when I say expires, I may mean dies. Anyhow, Stoneham can't use it if Dempsey doesn't fight again and he also can miss it if Dempsey does. For it is just possible that Dempsey can see himself in the dual role of promoter and fighter, with Fitz to front for him in the usual

No Upsets Feature Games In 3 State Conferences

BASKETBALL games in the three Ohio conferences went about as expected in the week-end contests. Ohio Wesleyan and Denison were atop the Buckeye conference and Toledo and Findlay were ahead in the Northwest conference. The Ohio conference group is considered a ness office. In this war, he could cut himself two ways out of a possible three and retire definitely to a life of ease and refinement.

If there is anything sensible about fighting, I would venture offhand that this way of doing it is eminent of good sense. He might lie up with Stoneham, if the urge was on him, in such a way that he could use the Polo grounds with Fitz or Leo

Fitz as the figurehead promoter. Fitz himself claims to have an option on Navin field, Detroit, which, if true, would mean another distinct possibility, granting that Dempsey was willing to go through with a fight to the first place. Detroit is a live one, from the standpoint of sports promotion or almost any other kind.

As for Dempsey himself, if he wants to fight, the windfall of a lifetime is his for the asking. The proposition wouldn't need a promoter; all it needs is an adding machine.

SMITH TAKES FIRST MONEY IN $10,000 LOS ANGELES MEET

Field To Continue Play for Balance of Prizes in Tourney

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 14.—The Los Angeles $10,000 open golf tournament was not quite finished today, although as far as Max Donald Smith of New York is concerned the rest of the field can take its time in finishing.

Mr. Smith, who clicks his shoes with all the precision of a machine, ran a winning race against the sun yesterday, and, what is more to the point, won the tournament, taking 285 strokes.

As a result of his victory, Smith is a two-time winner. It was the same Smith, who clings to par with a tenacity that is the despair of other golfers, that won the rich prize last year.

BULLETIN

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Stocks of the motor companies were the feature of speculative interest in a fairly active market today. The market started the week nervous as traders threw their stocks on the market in an "unloading" move, but steadiness of the steel move, and stockholders to revive the drooping spirit of the bulls, and helped along a rally of the principal stocks in the early afternoon.

Flu Epidemic
NOW SWEEPING
WHOLE COUNTRY

Is Milder Than in 1918,
But Emergency Demand for Vicks Breaks All Records.

The influenza epidemic which broke out late in October on the Pacific coast has spread with startling rapidity until now practically every section of the country is affected. Although the flu itself is not so serious as in 1918, authorities stress the importance of taking every possible precaution for fear of the complications which invade the weakened system after a flu attack. The urge, especially prompt treatment of every cold, as colds lower the body resistance and make it easier for germs of flu or pneumonia to get a foothold. That the public is heeding this warning is indicated by the phenomenal demand for Vicks Vapo-Rub, the famous external treatment which leaped to fame almost overnight during the 1918 epidemic. In spite of tripled capacity, the Vicks Laboratories are once more operating night and day to meet the emergency, and more than 755,000 jars are now being produced every 24 hours.—Advt.

day, for burial. Death came Saturday after a two days' illness.

Condition Improving—The condition of Miss Garret Baird, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Baird, of Columbus, who was operated on for appendicitis Saturday morning at City hospital, is reported improving.

Funeral—Funeral services for Alonzo A. Noyes, 50, were held at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the W. C. Boyd funeral home. Mr. Noyes died Friday after a week's illness of bronchial pneumonia. Interment was made in Millford Center cemetery.

Local Hocking Valley Cage and Bowling Teams Make Fair Showing in Tourney

One Bowling Outfit Takes Three Straight Games in Columbus; Basketball Five Loses in Clash with Capital City First String Outfit.

Marion representatives in the regional bowling and basketball tournaments of the Hocking Valley railroad, made a fairly good showing in the games held Saturday and Sunday in Columbus.

The local basketball team, which is in first place in the local industrial league race, took another one on the nose when it dropped a 32-21 game to the Columbus quintet. The locals were scheduled to play the Columbus second team but found themselves making things with the first string at the start of the game. The locals, lined up with Walcott and Brewer at the forward, Jennings at the pivot post and Shaw and Wolfe at the guards.

Four Teams Bowl
The Marion district sent four bowling teams to the capital city, only one of which was successful in defeating its opponents from the Columbus division. Team No. 1 took three straight games from Columbus No. 1 for the locals' only team victory. Marion team No. 4 outboxed Columbus team No. 8 from the office by three pins, 2059-2033 but was successful in taking one of the three games.

JOHN W. MOORE, 62,
DIES AT RICHWOOD

Pneumonia Fatal to Life Resident of Union County; Rites Wednesday
RICHWOOD, Jan. 11.—John W. Moore, 62, carpenter, died at 5:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon at his home, East Ottawa st., following a 10-days illness of pneumonia. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the M. B. church followed by interment in the Claiborne cemetery.

Mr. Moore was born May 30, 1866, near here and had resided all his life in and near Richwood. His parents were Thomas and Elizabeth Robinson Moore whose deaths occurred when he was six years of age. Mr. Moore was married by Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Fish. His marriage to Miss Lydia A. Martino took place Jan. 24, 1895. Mr. Moore was a member of Fisher chapel.

Surviving are the widow and following children: Thelma L. Moore, of Columbus; Walter Moore, of West Palm Beach, Fla.; Golda and Mildred Moore, of Hollywood, Fla. A daughter, Sylvia, died in November 1923. Two grandchildren, and one brother, Elmer Moore, of Arleta, also survive. Walter, Golda and Mildred Moore arrived here from Florida, yesterday.

Local Hocking Valley Cage and Bowling Teams Make Fair Showing in Tourney
One Bowling Outfit Takes Three Straight Games in Columbus; Basketball Five Loses in Clash with Capital City First String Outfit.

Marion representatives in the regional bowling and basketball tournaments of the Hocking Valley railroad, made a fairly good showing in the games held Saturday and Sunday in Columbus.

The local basketball team, which is in first place in the local industrial league race, took another one on the nose when it dropped a 32-21 game to the Columbus quintet. The locals were scheduled to play the Columbus second team but found themselves making things with the first string at the start of the game. The locals, lined up with Walcott and Brewer at the forward, Jennings at the pivot post and Shaw and Wolfe at the guards.

Four Teams Bowl
The Marion district sent four bowling teams to the capital city, only one of which was successful in defeating its opponents from the Columbus division. Team No. 1 took three straight games from Columbus No. 1 for the locals' only team victory. Marion team No. 4 outboxed Columbus team No. 8 from the office by three pins, 2059-2033 but was successful in taking one of the three games.

JOHN W. MOORE, 62,
DIES AT RICHWOOD

Pneumonia Fatal to Life Resident of Union County; Rites Wednesday
RICHWOOD, Jan. 11.—John W. Moore, 62, carpenter, died at 5:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon at his home, East Ottawa st., following a 10-days illness of pneumonia. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the M. B. church followed by interment in the Claiborne cemetery.

Mr. Moore was born May 30, 1866, near here and had resided all his life in and near Richwood. His parents were Thomas and Elizabeth Robinson Moore whose deaths occurred when he was six years of age. Mr. Moore was married by Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Fish. His marriage to Miss Lydia A. Martino took place Jan. 24, 1895. Mr. Moore was a member of Fisher chapel.

Surviving are the widow and following children: Thelma L. Moore, of Columbus; Walter Moore, of West Palm Beach, Fla.; Golda and Mildred Moore, of Hollywood, Fla. A daughter, Sylvia, died in November 1923. Two grandchildren, and one brother, Elmer Moore, of Arleta, also survive. Walter, Golda and Mildred Moore arrived here from Florida, yesterday.

BIRTHS
Mr. and Mrs. Paul Knut, 220 Chestnut st., are the parents of a son, born Sunday morning at City hospital.

FINE FOR CHILDREN
Give them a good start in life, with happy smiles and healthy little bodies. Children need a mild corrective occasionally to regulate stomach and bowels. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a safe vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. They tone up and regulate the digestive tract. Not a harsh cathartic or a habit-forming medicine, but a safe pleasant remedy for constipation, sour stomach, torpid liver, bad breath, and similar disorders. Dr. Edwards, a widely known family physician of Ohio, prescribed these tablets for many years in his own practice. Children from six years up are greatly helped by them and like to take them. Recognized by their olive color, Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets overcome those irritable spells that many children are subject to, keep their bodies in active healthy condition, skin clear and eyes bright with the light of perfect health. 75c, 50c and 30c sizes.—Advt.
